

We are excited to announce the winner of the 2023

Arts Society Turners Hill Award

Warm and Cosy

HM Prison & Young Offender Institution Parc Craft

Please find a picture of the winning piece below.

Warm and Cosy was made by a talented artist at HM Prison & Young Offender Institution Parc, a men's prison and young offender institute based in Wales. This year was the first time the artist entered the Koestler Awards.

Your support has helped recognise the talent of someone who has tried something new this year, and has found their voice through creativity and the Koestler Awards.

The artist will receive a bespoke certificate confirming that Warm and Cosy has won the 2023 Arts Society Turners Hill Award and personalised feedback from our Koestler Awards judges and feedback volunteers.

If you would also like to offer your comments and supportive words to the artist, please find attached a feedback form which you can return by email and which will be sent directly to the artist.

The artist has decided to put their work up for sale, so this piece is available to purchase for £40. We would like to offer you first refusal on the piece until 27 October. If you are interested in buying this artwork, please email tilly@koestlerarts.org.uk so we can reserve and organise this for you.

Warm and Cosy, HM Prison & Young Offender
Institution Parc, Arts Society Turners Hill
Bronze Award for Craft, 2023