We are privileged to have been invited for a private opening of the garden of Hans and Ingrid Sethi (T H Arts Society members)

A peaceful, Gertrude Jekyll style, 2 acre garden, with box parterre, (just winning the battle with the dreaded blight,) topiary, acclaimed herbaceous borders, pond, wildflower orchard, hens, green houses, vine house, fruit, large vegetable garden, herbs, and a huge variety of plants.

Whilst in the village you may care to look around St Margaret's Church and The Priest House.

This ~ 900-year-old church is a near walk from Luctons and features interesting cast iron items. (it will be open on the 14th)
The 15C Priest House is on the other side of the road. It is a timber-framed farmhouse, now a museum owned by the Sussex Archeological Society, and with a lovely garden, it will be open at a reduced rate.
